Literature is a treasury of our cultural heritage and an expressive human creation embodying both beauty and knowledge. Close examination of literature improves our thought and our use of language, enhances our understanding of past and present, and provides insight into our interior lives. So, too, does the practice of accurate and carefully crafted writing.

Consequently, the English major at St. Mary's is designed so that students will read a broad historical and cultural range of literatures and develop a variety of writing skills.

To achieve these goals, the English program begins with a required course on reading and writing in the major and three required literature-in-history courses, as well as 200-level elective courses that concentrate on either writing or a specific literary topic. In the surveys, students encounter influential writers, works, and ideas, which provide necessary background knowledge for further study of writing and literature. At the upper level, students define their individual course of study by taking "Methods of Literary Study" and more specialized literature and writing classes. During their senior year, students make use of the knowledge and skills learned in previous courses by choosing to do a St. Mary's Project or by taking additional advanced coursework. Within this overall framework, faculty advisors help each student select courses that will best meet his or her interests, needs and goals.

With its stress on clarity of thought and expression, and its focus on choices within the program, the English major provides an excellent foundation for a meaningful liberal arts education as well as a strong preparation for a variety of careers that require analytic rigor and clear, precise communication. The English major also provides the basis by which students can enrich their lives through an ongoing contact with stimulating authors, evocative language, and significant ideas.

Learning Outcomes

- Read and write clearly, effectively and perceptively
- Be familiar with the basic historical and cultural background of literature written in English, including influential historical events, ideas, literary movements, genres, authors and texts

- Understand how language is used in a range of literary texts
- Make connections among literary texts within and across historical periods, national literatures, cultural groups and formal categories
- Appreciate how literature and writing are vital to living a full and meaningful life

Degree Requirements for the Major

General College Requirements

- General College Requirements (see “Curriculum” section), including the following requirements to satisfy the major.
- A total of 48 credit hours of coursework, at least 24 of which must be at the 300 or 400 level.

Required Courses

12 hours of historical approaches to literature, consisting of

- ENGL 281: Literature in History I: The Beginnings through the Renaissance
- ENGL 282: Literature in History II: The Rise of Anglo-American Literature 1700-1900

Minimum Grade and GPA Requirements

Students must earn a grade of C- or better in each course counted towards the major, and maintain an overall GPA of at least 2.0 in these courses.

The St. Mary's Project

All students may apply, usually in the spring of their junior year, to undertake a St. Mary's Project (SMP). Projects approved by the department will receive eight hours of credit to be counted towards the major. Application deadlines and procedures will be announced each semester. Students contemplating an SMP in another discipline may petition the department to accept this work for elective credit towards their major. All such petitions must be received by the end of Exam Week the semester prior to the commencement of the intended project. See the English Department website for more details.

Degree Requirements for the Minor

General College Requirements

- General college requirements.
- All requirements in a major field of study other than English.

Course Requirements

At least six courses, totaling no less than 22 credit hours, as specified below:

Required courses:

- ENGL 204: Reading and Writing in the Major.

- One 100-or 200-level literature course.

Elective Courses:

- Four more courses earning ENGL credit.

At least eight credits for the minor must be at the 300 or 400 level.

ENGL101 and 102 may not be counted towards the minor. No more than four credits of guided readings, independent studies, or credit-bearing internships may be counted towards the minor. No more than four credits of approved courses originating in other departments (see 7b., above) may be counted towards the minor.

Minimum Grade and GPA Requirements

A grade of C- or better must be received in each course, and the cumulative grade-point average of courses used to satisfy the minor must be at least 2.0.

Requirements for Teacher Certification

A Master of Arts in Teaching Program is available at St. Mary's College of Maryland after completion of the baccalaureate degree. Students who are interested in becoming teachers should contact the chair of the Department of Educational Studies or an education adviser in their major field of study for suggested coursework in educational studies, and their specific major. These consultations should take place during the first semester of the sophomore year.
